TRYING TO HOLD PRESIDENT DOWN |

The Standpatters. Led by Cannon, Begin a Fight Against Extra Session

PARTY CHIEFS SEE DANGER IN MEETING

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27,—The nost beautiful game of politics this country has seen in many a long day is now being played in Washington. The administration is on one side and the older Reistration is on one side and the older Republican politicians of the Senate and House of Representatives are on the other. Speaker Cannon is leading those who are fighting against an extra session of Congress this faill and they are making the struggle of their lives. This last is hardly exaggeration. These wise 'old fellows know that an extra session of Congress, that goes to work to rip up the tariff and to enact legislation, giving the government control over rallway rates, will make more campaign material for the Democrats than can be used in a year's time. It may be called a fight for life, the congressional life of many a landmark in the Senate and the popular branch.

Speaker Cannon declares with all the homely emphasis he can assume that the Republicans of Massachusetts, Ohio and other rock-ribbed Republican States are against an extra session and he suggests that if the President is determined to call the Congress together before the time fixed by the constitution, he makes the date November 13th. The standpatters are solidly behind the Speaker and they are bringing every possible influence to bear upon the President,

Real Significance of It.

Real Significance of It.

Real Significance of It.

There is good reason for saying that back of all this flighting against an extra session is a scheme to put off as long as possible any legislation affecting the rate question. Of course, the opponents of tariff revision are making common cause with the opponents of rate legislation. Should the President yield, abandon his intention to call an extra session for early in October and delay it until even the middle of November, a great advantage would be obtained. They argue that little could be done before the Christmas holidays, that the Speaker could delay the announcement of his comthe Caristmas nondays, that the speakers could delay the announcement of his com-mittees until just before the holiday ad-journment, so that the new year would be well under way before committees would begin seriously to consider bills rement, so that the new year would well under way before committees ind begin seriously to consider bilis leding railroad rates, the Panama al, not to mention legislation to saferad the treasury and providing a remfor the growing deficit, is asserted with positiveness that the titing the new Congress will take up be the question of changing the definite a surplus. It is argued that the ntry is more deeply interested in putial a stop to the outflow of money in the treasury without a correspondinceme than it is in railroad rates, cheannot possibly have any bearing treasury receipts. If this be the correction, it is plain to that it will be easy for the Speaker to guide the House in the considency of the public business that it will well along in the spring of 1966 before railroad question is reached in any-agilike tangible form.

here is another reason than opposition and the Republicans see the danof doing more than is absolutely intial. They want to husten away for campaign when that much is done, hout giving opportunity for the mancture of campaign thunder for the moerats. They believe that many woo now so loud in demanding railroad slation will be quieted down to whiles and will have serious doubts as to wisdom of giving to a commission power to make a railroad rate, subto the review of some court.

man in the White House. Theodore Roosevalt has firs jaw, set. He declares there shall be an extra session. He declares the Congress shall enact a law giving the country relief from what he regards as oppressive railway rates. His recent utterances on this subject are the strongest he has made in his life. If the Congress is looking for a fight, it can get it. That is the sum and substance of the attitude of the President. Secretary Taft is behind him. It was asserted and was not denied until the Senaie Interstate Commerce Committee begun investigating the rate question that the people were behind both of them.

Already some over-zealous opponents of rate legislation are saying things about the President that to a man of his temperament are not calculated to turn away wrath. As pretty a fight as this country when the contest, with Lady Hope, owned and ridden by K. Percival, iust below.

PETPERSBURG, VA, May 27.—The torse was king this afternoon at the Rivreside Country Club, where racing as the crowning sport was inaugurated betore a crowd that througed the clubnouse porches and made the lawn look tike the crowded "field" of a great pourse.

A manusome hunting coat in the club colors, was presented to the winner by Mr. Ddriean Wright.

High Ball, owned and ridden by Ernest Jones, topped them all in the high jumpling contest, with Lady Hope, owned and ridden by R. R. Pereival, just below.

The dress suit case and thread and needle races were the novelties of the programme, the former requiring the rider to go over the 400-yard course, dismount, chinge his coat for one in the case, return to the start with the case and, then go back, returning finally minus that handicap.

Hugh Pereival, on Maud Medium, won out in fine style, handling both the mare and the suit case with speedy skill; R. R. Pereival, on Lady Hope, was a good second, with Ernest Jones, on W. G. McCabe's Robin, third.

The Messrs, Pereival also took first and second honors in the thread and needle race, Maud Medium winning, with Lady Hope her close rival. The riders went over the course with a thread to a point four hundred yards from the club, where a young lady presented them with a threaded needle, to be carried back to the club-house.

Other entries to-day were Alexander Hamilton's Hobe and Dr. H. G. Leigh's Liey Douglass, ridden in different events by J. F. W. Ruffin.

Lady Beldane, owned and ridden by George Harrison, and J. M. Townsend's Kitty, ridden by her owner, also made a good showing.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, No. 1102 Hull Street, 1 on paument slave 'srat papumens four Acting upon information sworn to by Mr. E. C. Taylor, agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Richmond, Justice of the Peace L. W. Cheatham yesterday issued nine warrants against Phillips and Allport, contractors on the Petersburg Turnpike, near Centralla, and against R. R. Kyle, foreman for the contractors, charging them with cruelly treating dumb brutes. In the warrants the names of nine mules are given, and Mr. Taylor gives the measuroments of each sore on the animals being worked. Captain A. B. Guigon, of Richmond, is attorney for the society and some time ago took the matter up with Commonwealth's Attorney Gregory, of Chesterfield county. At first it was not definitely known in what court the proceedings against the contractors and their foreman would be brought.

Special Officer Watts will serve the papers on Monday and 'Squire Cheatham will hear the cases at once.

Retains Her Composure.

Mrs. Estelle Smith, the alleged murderess of her six-year-old child, who is confined in the Manchester juil awaiting the June term of the Corporation Court when she will be placed on trial for her life, is helying up well under the terrible strain upon her nerves. She has received no callers since being at the jail and has not communicated with her husband except on the times when she was brought to and from the courthouse. Her husband, S. K. Smith, who is charged with being an accessory to the murder of the child, is confined in a cell on the opposite side of the jail from Mrs. Smith,

No Houses for Kent.

Real estate men in Manchester are boing besleged for houses for rent. There are less than half a dozen vacant dwellings in the city, and practically not a one in a very desirable locality. In this connection it is recalled that two years ago there were some twenty-five or thirty houses for rent all the time. Rent was then much cheaper also. The new industries that have within the past year located in Manchester and the many now contemplating locating here will, it is believed, increase the population of the city several thousand by the next census.

NIGHT REGARD IT AS DEBT OF HONOR YOUNG MEN. GO INTO CAMP

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, May 27—Unless the present plans of the Goulds go amiss during the next few days, there is excellent reason to believe that the Merchants Trust Company, which went to smash on Tuesday, will be revived. Those who are at the head of the plan of reorganization are confident that the company will be put back on its feet in the next ten days.

put back on its feet in the next ten days.

It is said on good authority that four members of the Gould family are interested in the revival of the trust company in which Frank Gould was the majority stockholder. The chief backer of the reorganization syndicate is said to be George Gould and with him are Howard. Frank and Miss Helen Gould. According to those who are close to the situation, a family conference was held after the wrecking of the trust company, at which it was decided that the blot on the family concution must be removed by paying all the Habilities of the company and placing it on a firm financial footing.

Dr. J. P. It is understood that he represents the Goulds in all of the preliminary arrangements. According to those who are in touch with the affairs of the trust company, the four members of the Gould family have agreed to put up $5,000,000 for the revival of the trust company, which will be run along conservative lines to be laid down by George Gould. It is said that that is one condition named by the Goulds if they were to put in their millions in the enterprise. There are other conditions, too, the chief one being that none of the old directors nor in fact any of the officials of the trust company who had to do with the loans on "wildcat" securities that brought it grief, are to be in any way connected with the revived bank. They must all surrender their stock to the new control.

MAJOR LANIER

The latter said he had no objection whatever to the entire matter, and all the correspondence, and facts relating thereto being published, but after consulting his counsel, Mr. William L. Royall, he declined to make a statement.

The fact that Mr. Lanier has retained counsel indicates the possibility of legal proceedings. It is said to be his purpose, in the event he is not put in what he regards as a proper light, to bring suit against Mr. Upshur, whom he holds responsible for what he is said to consider a reffection upon him. Damages, it has been whispered, may be laid at $10,000.
